

© World Health Organization 2021

All rights are reserved. The information presented by the World Health Organization (WHO) in the various pages of the European Environment Agency (EEA) is issued by WHO for general distribution, and is protected under the Berne Convention for the Protection of Literature and Artistic Works, under other international conventions and under national laws on copyright and neighbouring rights.

Extracts of the information in the WHO pages on this EEA website may be freely reviewed, reproduced or translated for research or private study but not for sale or for use in conjunction with commercial purposes. Any use of information should be accompanied by an acknowledgment of WHO as the source, citing the uniform resource locator (URL) of the article. Reproduction or translation of substantial portions of the content, or any use other than for educational or other non-commercial purposes, requires explicit, prior authorization in writing. If you wish to apply for permission to quote or translate WHO material, please use the online Request form for permission to quote/translate.

The designations employed and the presentation of the information in the WHO pages on the EEA website do not imply the expression of any opinion whatsoever on the part of the World Health Organization concerning the legal status of any country, territory, city or area or of its authorities, or concerning the delimitation of its frontiers or boundaries.

The mention of specific companies or of certain manufacturers' products does not imply that they are endorsed or recommended by the World Health Organization in preference to others of a similar nature that are not mentioned. Errors and omissions excepted, the names of proprietary products are distinguished by initial capital letters.

The World Health Organization does not warrant that the information contained in the WHO pages on the EEA website is complete and correct and shall not be liable whatsoever for any damages incurred as a result of its use.

If you would like more information about WHO documentation or health information, please consult the following links: <https://www.who.int/> or <https://www.euro.who.int/en/home>